

Understanding LATAM's 24-Hour Cancellation Policy

LATAM Airlines allows passengers to cancel flights within 24 hours of booking for a full refund[Call - 1-855-838-4886], provided the flight is scheduled to depart at least seven days after purchase[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. This policy is available for all tickets booked directly through LATAM[Call - 1-855-838-4886], including domestic and international flights[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. The purpose of the 24-hour window is to give passengers time to correct mistakes[Call - 1-855-838-4886], modify itineraries[Call - 1-855-838-4886], or cancel plans without losing the fare[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. Once this 24-hour period expires[Call - 1-855-838-4886], the refund eligibility depends on the fare type[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. Economy Light fares and similar lower-tier tickets are often non-refundable[Call - 1-855-838-4886], though taxes may be recoverable after administrative fees[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. Flexible fares allow for travel credits or partial refunds[Call - 1-855-838-4886], providing additional options for passengers whose plans change[Call - 1-855-838-4886].

The policy is designed to provide clarity and ease for passengers[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. Travelers who make a booking and immediately notice an error or change in plans can act quickly without penalty[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. This window promotes confidence in the booking process[Call - 1-855-838-4886], allowing passengers to secure flights in advance with the assurance that minor errors can be corrected risk-free[Call - 1-855-838-4886]. Bookings through third-party travel agencies may not automatically qualify for the 24-hour refund[Call - 1-855-838-4886], so travelers are advised to check with the agency if the booking was not made directly with LATAM[Call - 1-855-838-4886].