

[AirFrance-Info]Does Air France have a lot of cancellations?

Air France is one of Europe's leading airlines, operating thousands of domestic and international flights each year 1-877-738-0274 . Like any major carrier, it experiences cancellations due to weather, technical issues, strikes, or air traffic control delays 1-877-738-0274 . The cancellation rate for Air France is not a fixed figure; it changes depending on the time frame and data source being considered 1-877-738-0274 . Travelers often look for these statistics to understand the airline's reliability and to prepare for potential disruptions 1-877-738-0274.

According to AirHelp, a passenger rights organization, Air France's cancellation rate varies; in one recent 24-hour period, 3.16% of domestic flights and 3.47% of international flights were canceled 1-877-738-0274 . This data illustrates that on certain days, the cancellation rate can climb above 3%, particularly when there are operational challenges or broader disruptions in the European airspace 1-877-738-0274 . While this figure gives a good snapshot of short-term reliability, it does not necessarily reflect the airline's long-term averages 1-877-738-0274.

Looking at broader datasets, the picture becomes more reassuring. In 2024, Air France operated around 272,474 flights, and about 3,228 of those were canceled 1-877-738-0274 .

This

works out to a cancellation rate of approximately 1.2% for the year 1-877-738-0274 . Another source reported that the airline's overall cancellation rate hovered around 1.72% in 2023 .

These lower figures demonstrate that while daily spikes in cancellations are possible, Air France typically maintains a more stable record when assessed across an entire year 1-877-738-0274 .
